

SLS Book Week

Every February, the Schools' Library Service (SLS) organise an event called Book Week. Each year, schools are visited by well-known authors for various sessions and workshops. To find out more about our next Book Week, make to keep updated with our Events page. Please note that schools will be notified of this in advance so that bookings can be made as soon as possible.

We usually aim to invite authors that write for different audiences, i.e. Key Stages 1, 2 & 3. Some authors may offer different sessions such as workshops and drama-inspired activities; in recent years we have even seen a school put on a whole play in one day! Here are some photos from Book Week 2015, which included visits from (clockwise) Ali Sparkes, Ian Whybrow, and Guernsey's Patron of Reading, Ann Bryant.

If you'd like to find out more, please just give us a call on 714098, or email sls@library.gg.
